

MSc(Audiology)

2016

Master of Science in Audiology

The Division of Speech and Hearing Sciences of the Faculty of Education at The University of Hong Kong was one of the first academic divisions in South East Asia and China to offer postgraduate training in audiology. The first batch of students was enrolled in the Master of Science in Audiology Programme in 1996, and the next entry will be in September 2016.

The division's two-year programme provides students with detailed theoretical background knowledge of human hearing and hearing loss, intensive clinical practice in a variety of audiology placements, as well as an appreciation of research in audiology.
