

CERC presents

Movie Afternoons

17 November 2016

Thursday

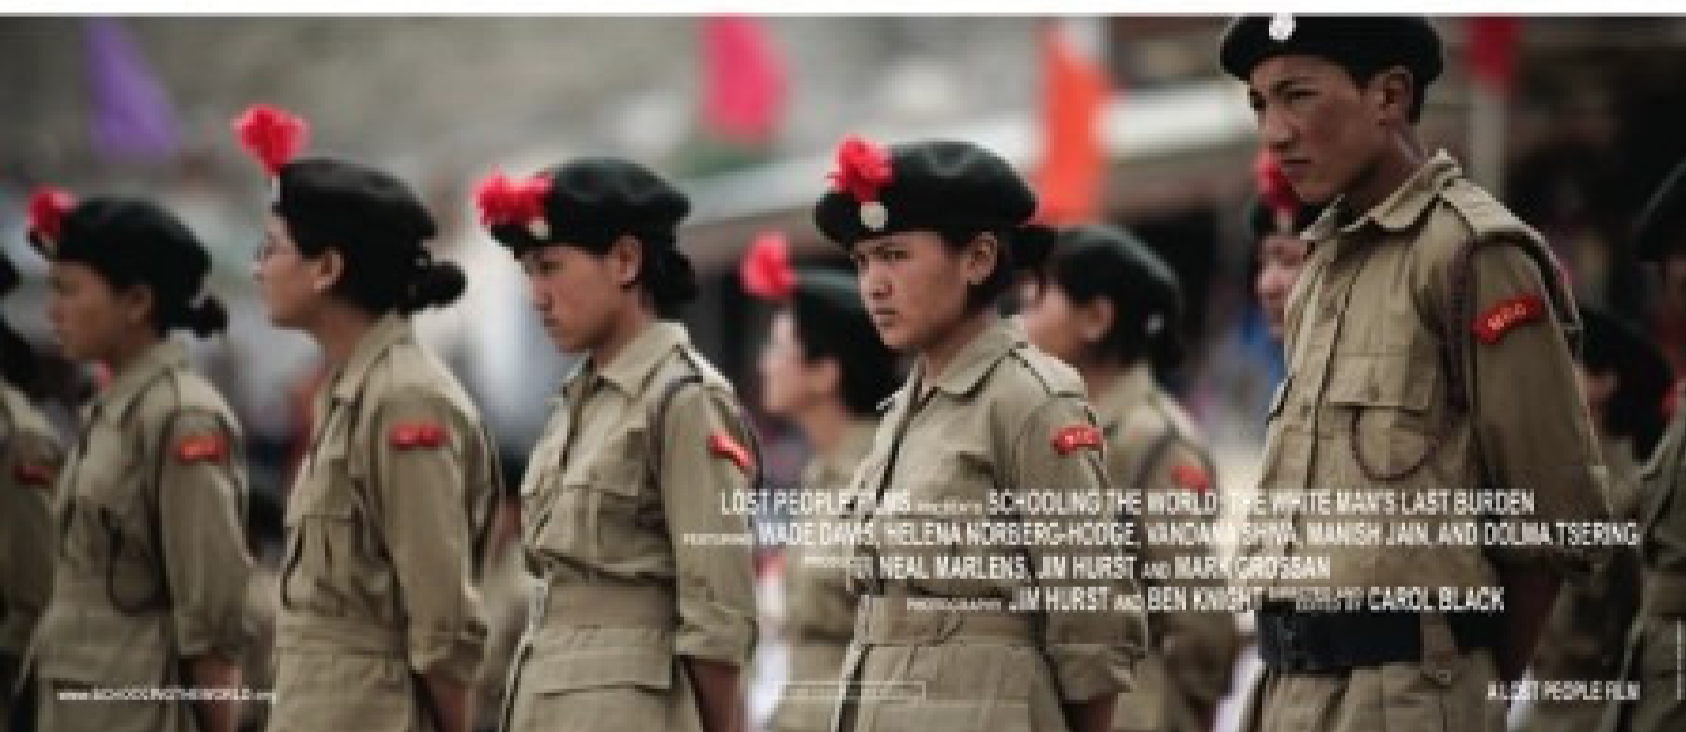

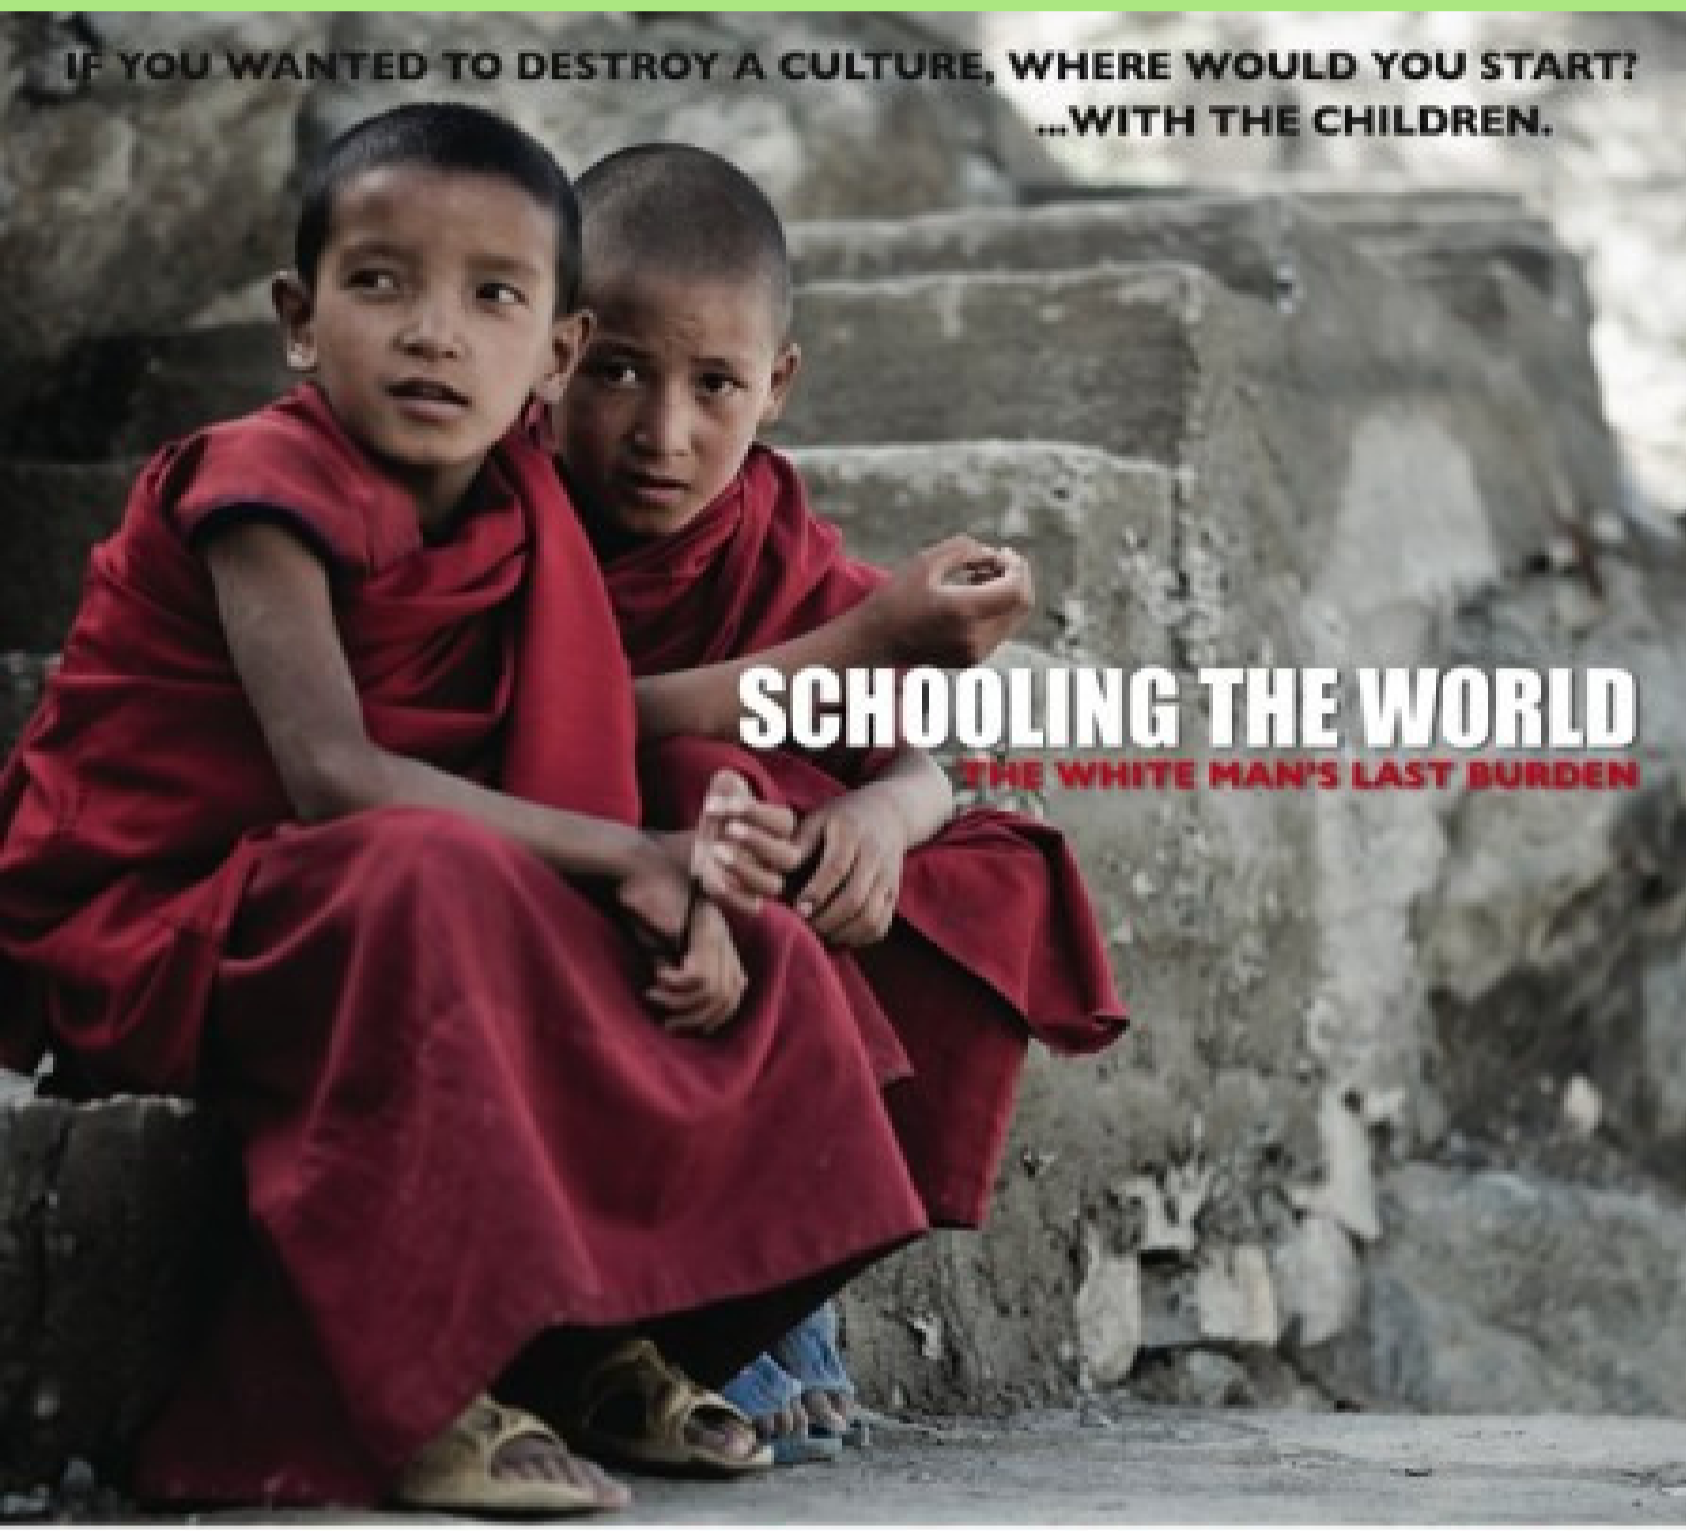

1.45 pm

Doors open at 1.30 pm

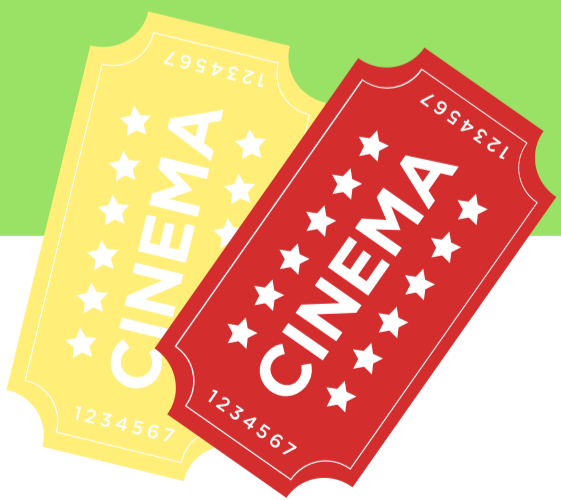

Room 403

Meng Wah Complex

University of Hong Kong

This 2010 controversial movie, directed by Carol Black, portrays the invasion of "Western" education in a village in Ladakh, India and discusses the far-reaching implications of such invasions on indigenous societies and the planet as a whole. Join us to gain insights not only from the movie but also from yourself and peers, on this crucial issue which has been of special concern in the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals, 2015 (SDG4).

Free entry

No registration required

Organising Committee:

Pubali Ghosh

Nadine Muschette

Liang Min

Comparative Education Research Centre (CERC)

Faculty of Education

The University of Hong Kong

Website: <http://cerc.edu.hku.hk/>

Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/CERC.HKU>

Twitter: http://twitter.com/CERC\_HKU