The following Programme Learning Outcomes align with the University Aims at http://tl.hku.hk/reform:

Program Learning Outcomes (Core outcomes)

1. Enhance information resources management in libraries and other organisations by applying LIM and related methodologies and techniques

2. Enhance information based services by understanding the ways that humans conceptualise, seek, and use information

3. Design small scale studies involving LIM and related areas

Program Learning Outcomes (Specialist Strands)

4. Design systems and policies that facilitate information resource management and services within, and between, organisations and their stakeholders (Information Management)

5. Design systems and policies that facilitate knowledge management in organisations and communities (Knowledge Management)

6. Design policies and systems that facilitate the delivery of collections, information services and resources to an identified clientele and other internal and external stakeholders (Librarianship)

7. Design policies and systems that promote the understanding and use of archives and records as vital evidence and facilitate their proper management and the delivery of relating services for organizations and stakeholders (Archives and Records Management).

Program Learning Outcomes (Dissertation)

8. Research on the acquisition, organization, storage, sharing, and use of information and/or knowledge